Problem Statement

We are looking to have equipment designed/developed that will allow us to test physical function, specifically muscle strength in macaque monkeys. For over 25 years we have been studying the effects of diet on aging in rhesus monkeys. We have learned that like humans, rhesus monkeys lose muscle mass with advancing age. We have shown that long-term intake of a reduced calorie diet can delay this decrease in muscle mass. While we have the ability to measure muscle mass, we are not currently able to measure muscle function or strength, our true outcome variable of interest. We can often use equipment that has been designed for humans with our monkeys. In this case, we are concerned that the muscle strength testing equipment that is commercially available requires the patient to willingly perform at their maximum level. Ideally we would have equipment that would entice the monkeys to perform at their maximum and allow us to determine muscle strength for both hind limbs and fore limbs separately.
